SPLA Urges Torit, Juba Citizens To Mutiny

ea130900

((landestine) Radio of the Sudanese People's Liberation Army in Latuka 1100 GMT 11 Sep 87 (Tentative)

[commentary by Captain Edward Otome Luteng, former mp
 from southern Sudan]

[Text] You know how the SPLA lives against you, the people. They don't kill villagers, only the oppressor, who is your enemy and our enemy. This is the person we are looking for. You, our people, know very well that people from all parts of the country belong to the SPLA now.

Those of you in big and small towns, try to give us a chance. Move out of these towns and allow us to fight these enemies of the Sudanese people. As soon as they are dealt with, you can return to your homes. We are not chasing you out of your homes. You also know that we do not violently rob. Wherever we go we ask for food. If the owner wants to sell it to us, we buy it. But if he does not want us to buy his food, we leave him alone and keep our money.

Now the SPLA have reached Juba. We are there on a mission, a mission to assure the Sudanese people that the killing of innocent people will stop and that detainees held without charges will be released. The SPLA wants Juba to be free of corruption and administered by you yourselves. You all know that representatives of all nationalities have joined the movement. When the movement started, it was easy for some groups to deceive you by saying that the SPLA is a tribal movement. But some of you are no longer deceived because you see that your fathers, brothers and sisters are now in the ple from western, eastern, northern and central Sudan are all with us in the SPLA.

As for the Lutakas, a group which joined the SPLA recently was entirely made up of Latukas. But there is one problem which bothers us. This is the problem of our brothers in the Sudanese Army. Most of them are former Anyanya One fighters. Some of these people thought that war was the last of its kind and that nobody would ever fight again. This is a wrong way of thinking, because that was the first war whose aim was to organise us for the final war.

Today's war is the war we want to be the final one, so that our grandchildren do not have to experience war or suffering. You inside the army are our brothers. Therefore we want you to think about the way you are fighting your brothers in the bush, if it is because of money, you are making a mistake. This shows that when you joined Anyanya One, it was also because of money. We thought that you patriotically wanted to fight the enemy and liberate your oppressed people. You should also know that as we advance, we scorch the earth. The children of those who die fighting for the government will not get any compensation. Those of you in Torit and Juba should mutiny now, at later [as heard]. If you are afraid of being overwhelmed, remember that the SPLA is all around.
